

SABIQ INSTITUTIONAL OVERVIEW

About Sā b iq

Sābiq is a discipline-driven Shariah business partner, advancing Islamic finance through Shariah ValueChain Integration – our proprietary approach that unifies governance, execution and oversight into a single coherent system.

Founded in 2021, we exist to ensure that Shariah intent is not only defined, but operationalized with clarity, transparency and integrity across the full lifecycle of a transaction. Through integrated platforms and expert advisory, Sabiq transforms complexity into a seamless, trusted Shariah-compliant operating ecosystem.

Excellence at Every Shariah Step

Sabiq is redefining how Islamic finance is understood and operationalised. Through our discipline of Shariah ValueChain Integration, we ensure that Shariah intent is carried consistently through governance, execution and oversight – creating a lifecycle where each stage reinforces the next.

Supported by expert Shariah advisory and integrated Shariah systems such as Sābiq Core and Sābiq Orbit, we connect principles with practice and governance with frontline operations. Our unified model strengthens trust, clarity and institutional resilience across the value chain.

For us, Shariah compliance is not a checklist; it is a dynamic partnership that elevates standards and builds confidence at every step.

MEET THE FOUNDER/CEO

AND RESIDENT SHARIAH ADVISOR

MAYA MARISSA MALEK

Maya Marissa Malek is a recognized leader in Islamic finance with more than two decades of experience creating Shariah compliant solutions and practical mechanisms across global markets. She works at the intersection of Shariah advisory and industry development – ensuring Shariah integrity while building the mechanisms, partnerships and pathways that expand the reach of Islamic finance beyond its traditional boundaries. This dual focus underpins the vision behind Sabiq, towards advancing a more connected, accessible and future-ready Shariah ecosystem.

Drawing on her prior role as CEO and Shariah advisor within the global Shariah advisory industry, Maya has advised regulators, standard setting bodies, multilateral institutions and major financial entities among others, contributing to the development of market-ready mechanisms that enable broader participation in Islamic finance.

She has held senior advisory roles with the World Bank, the International Finance Corporation and the Malaysia International Islamic Financial Centre (MIFC) to name a few and serves on the Astana International Financial Centre, regional and international Islamic finance advisory groups.

Her contributions have been recognized through distinctions such as the Top 50 Most Influential Women in Middle East Finance by Financial News UK of Dow Jones Group and the Top 15 Women Leaders in Middle East Finance.

Maya has also spoken at global policy and thought leadership forums, including Chatham House – widely regarded as one of the world’s foremost think tanks – where she contributed to its inaugural session on Islamic finance, reflecting her role in shaping the global conversation on the industry’s future.

OUR DISCIPLINE

Shariah ValueChain Integration

Islamic finance is built on strong Shariah foundations. Collective efforts have enabled institutions to operate within a financial system grounded in clarity, responsibility and ethical purpose. Yet, as markets accelerate and expectations rise, the most material risks now emerge at the intersections of governance, execution, oversight and accountability - where no single function was designed to operate in isolation.

This is where Sābiq begins.

Shariah ValueChain Integration is our response to this new reality. It ensures that:-

- Shariah intent is translated into governance
- Governance is translated into execution
- Execution reflects the purpose for which the structure was designed
- Oversight reinforces transparency and resilience
- Every link in the chain strengthens the next

It is a system, not a service

A mindset, not a checklist

A commitment to coherence across the full lifecycle of a transaction.

Translating Discipline into Practice

---

Sābiq operationalises Shariah ValueChain Integration through:

- Structured advisory and governance design
- Value-chain mapping
- Shariah-aligned operating models,
- Execution oversight
- Integration frameworks that operate across institutional and transactional ecosystems.

These mechanisms ensure that Shariah intent is embedded not only in documentation, but in operational reality - where most Shariah risks actually arise.

Brand Manifesto

We believe meaningful progress begins with a mindset — a way of recognising what is right, fulfilling what is due and acting with integrity.

This is the idea behind Sābiq: not a claim of status, but a commitment to strive. To pursue excellence with intention. To elevate standards through clarity, responsibility and meaningful contribution.

We move with purpose — not to stand above others, but to advance what is beneficial, practical and built to last.

We work collaboratively, creating pathways with clients and partners that support responsible growth and long-term value. To ensure this mindset is carried into practice, we translate it into structured governance design, value chain mapping, Shariah-aligned operating models, execution oversight and integration frameworks that operate across institutional and transactional ecosystems.

These mechanisms embed Shariah intent into decisions, processes, behaviours and market interactions - ensuring that principles are not only articulated but lived.

Our role is to help shape a financial landscape where principles and performance reinforce one another. Where ethical clarity is not a niche, but a norm. Where Islamic Finance stands confidently in the global mainstream - understood, respected and accessible.

We are forerunners in mindset - forward-looking, values-driven and committed to meaningful progress. Together, we build what comes next.
